

This comment and my reply were posted in Artists in Community. I later decided to move “A Poem for Olivia” to my own Portfolio

1.

Berma Matteson

March 12, 2015 at 8:49 am

We are the fulcrum between worry and trust. The world will be kind and fair for our children and their children and we have raised them with the knowledge and skills to live their best lives. Deep inside, our minds, not our hearts, whisper, “but will they?” In the end, it is out of our control.

I so wish you would submit this to the journal we have in common, the title escapes me now, the one they hand out at the Sat. meeting.

Reply

o

bette

August 30, 2015 at 8:07 am Edit →

The journal is called the Forum Magazine. I'd probably have to re-write it – but thanks for the encouragement